

SHORT CV

Nur Rahmah Hidayati is a researcher at the Center for Safety, Metrology, and Nuclear Quality Technology (RCSMNQT) - National Research and Innovation Agency (BRIN) Indonesia. Her research areas include radiation safety technology, radiopharmaceutical dosimetry, personalized dosimetry in radionuclide therapy, and radiopharmaceutical dosimetry. She has a background in medical radiation physics from the University of Wollongong, New South Wales, Australia, and a doctoral program in physics at Universitas Indonesia. Her international activities include serving as Indonesia's representative for UNSCEAR sessions since 2018, being a member of Ad Hoc Working Group Effect and Mechanism – UNSCEAR, a member of the Special Interest Group of Internal Dosimetry-EFOMP, AFOMP Professional Relations Committee and participating in various IAEA projects since 2014.