

Noriyuki kadoya, Ph.D.

Dr. Noriyuki Kadoya is an senior assistant professor in the Department of Radiation Oncology at Tohoku University. He has produced many world-class research results in medical physics, including studying abroad at Stanford University and the University of California, Davis, and also serves as a director of the Japan Society of Medical Physics. His research covers a wide range of topics in AI-based automated treatment planning, AI-based patient specific QA, deformable image registration, CT ventilation. Clinical experience for approximately 20 years with more than 100 publications in national/international journals.