

Short CV Phil W. Koken

In 1996 I joined the Radiation Oncology Department of the Amsterdam UMC. Besides the clinics, I am involved in IT and teach at the adjacent university. Since 2021 I am a member of the Dutch Advisory Group for Cancer during Pregnancy. This group of 45 medical experts gives advice to referring medical teams who are looking after a patient with cancer during their pregnancy. In 2023 this group published a book, which I co-edited and co-authored.

In 1997 I founded the Varian Users Group in Belgium and The Netherlands; I chair this group since then. I am a member of the national societies of Clinical Physics and of Radiation Oncology, for which I participated in several task groups. I have (co-)authored several papers within the field of radiotherapy.
