

Description

Norhanna Sohaimi

Department of Diagnostic Imaging and Radiotherapy, Kulliyyah of Allied Health Sciences,
International Islamic University Malaysia, Malaysia

Dr. Norhanna Sohaimi, currently serving as an Assistant Professor (DS52) at the Department of Diagnostic Imaging and Radiotherapy within the Kulliyyah of Allied Health Sciences, International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM), brings over 15 years of experience to her role. Holding a bachelor's degree in Medical Radiation (2004) and a Master's in Medical Physics (2005) from Universiti Sains Malaysia. She completed her doctoral studies in Health Sciences (Medical Imaging) with a focus on radionuclide imaging at IIUM in 2017. Dr. Norhanna's expertise lies in various facets of medical imaging, medical radiation, radiation protection, and radionuclide imaging. Her enduring commitment to education and research makes her an invaluable asset to both her institution and community.